Program Footnote: Much effort was made to compile the history of ISPE; however this document is not complete and may contain errors. It was a challenge to find available records for some years. As memories have faded and witnesses have passed, the materials left behind often provide conflicting accounts of names and dates. Please contact ISPE if you find any errors so these records can be updated. What is most important is not always these inaccuracies but rather the events that have taken place to make this great organization.

Pride in Idaho Professional Engineering at 100

Early in life one is apt to view the world through events that have occurred only in their lifetime. Though, with maturity, one begins to have a growing appreciation for the accomplishments of the past and for the people who are responsible for them. As I look back on the history of ISPE and the contributions of its members to Idaho and the engineering profession, I am even more proud to be a part of this great organization. My wish is that as you read through the names of those that have served the engineering profession through ISPE you too will be both inspired and proud to be an ISPE member and a professional engineer. As earlier ISPE membership cards quoted Charles Dickens, "It is well for a man to respect his own vocation whatever it is, and to think himself bound to uphold it and to claim it for the respect it deserves".

In order for ISPE to celebrate another anniversary, a renewed sense of pride from members is needed. Times change and as a professional engineer and member of ISPE, I challenge you with helping to shape the future of both organizations. Only with members becoming more involved by serving as officers or committee members will ISPE's continue for another 100 years as an organization that serves all professional engineers.

Your Part - 50th Anniversary

It is with great pride that we review the advancement of the engineering profession over the last fifty years and see the important part that our Idaho Society of Professional Engineers has contributed to this effort.

As you review this fiftieth anniversary publication I am certain you will reflect that as our Society has grown, so has the stature of the professional engineer grown. But let us not live on the laurels of the past.

We as a Society, in the interest of all mankind, as well as the engineering profession, should be looking at new horizons and even greater goals of professional development. Therefore, I charge each and every one of you, as members of the engineering profession, to accept the responsibility and do your part in the advancement of professionalism.

Sumner M. Johnson, P.E. February 1960

Darwin A. Utter

Founder of Idaho Society of Professional Engineers

Darwin A. Utter founder and first President of the Idaho Society of Professional Engineers, came west in 1889 and settled in Weiser, He engineered the original Weiser power, water, and sewer systems and adjacent irrigation works. In1908, Engineer Utter was appointed Surveyor General of Idaho. While serving as Surveyor General, he made a study of desirable changes to improve methods for the survey of public lands which had been in use for over a hundred years. He was virtually the author of the law which governs the practice at the present. Brass cap markers for corners and surveys by government forces rather than by contract were two of the changes made. In 1913, he was employed by a syndicate to spend several months in the Orient and Philippines to investigate and report on natural resources. In 1916, he accepted the office of Deputy U.S. Land Commissioner at Mountain Home and had an office there for the balance of his life.

Prior to the Spanish American War, Engineer Utter was commissioned as a secret service agent for the U.S. Government. In that capacity, he visited all the important seaports in the world.

SW Chapter Engineering Week (1958 & 2010)

ISPE SUPPORTED PROGRAMS

Engineers' Week

The third full week of February is recognized as National Engineers' Week and was started in 1951 as a way to call attention to engineer's contributions to society. The celebration was begun by the National Society of Professional Engineers in conjunction with President George Washington's Birthday as President Washington is considered by many as the nation's first engineer, notably for his survey work. Engineering week banquets are held by a number of the ISPE Chapters recognizing newly licensed engineers and top engineering students during this week.

MATHCOUNTS

MATHCOUNTS

MATHCOUNTS is a national math coaching and competition program for 6th, 7th, and 8th grade students created and run by the National Society of Professional Engineers, the National Council for Teachers of Mathematics and the CNA Insurance Company in 1984/85. MATHCOUNTS provides an opportunity for students to have fun while exploring areas of math that they may not see in their normal class curriculum. Four Idaho Chapter competitions are held in February with a State Competition held each March in Boise. The top four students from the State Competition represent Idaho at the National Competition in May. Students are recognized for their achievements on both team and individual bases.

Future City

Begun nationally in 1992 and in Idaho in 2005, the National Engineers Week Future City Competition brings science, technology and math alive in a hands-on environment for 6th, 7th and 8th graders. The program integrates project-based learning across curriculums and includes computer simulation. Students working with an engineer mentor develop a computer model of a Future City using SimCity software, address a real world engineering issue through a research essay, build a scale model of a Future City and present their Future City to a panel of engineering judges at the Regional Competition during January in Boise. The top team represents Idaho at the National Competition in Washington D.C. during National Engineers Week.

ISPE SUPPORTED PROGRAMS

ISPE Foundation

The ISPE Foundation was established in February 1988. It was created to promote "the advancement of educational, charitable, and scientific purposes that fill human needs, primarily but not exclusively those of the education of youth". One of its specific duties is "to raise, maintain, and administer funds for the purpose of financing the ISPE state and chapter MATHCOUNTS contests".

All voting members of ISPE are also members of the ISPE Foundation. It is governed by a board of directors with between 9 and 15 members, that consists of five at-large members and at least one member from each of the four ISPE chapters. Regular meetings of the Foundation board are held at least twice each year, with one of these meetings held in conjunction with the ISPE Annual Membership Meeting.

The Foundation is a non-profit organization, exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501 (C) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

Qualifications Based Selection (QBS) Facilitator Council

The Qualifications Based Selection (QBS) Facilitator Council is a coalition of many design and professional service volunteers formed to bring information about qualifications based selection to cities and counties in Idaho. The coalition began meeting in 1998 shortly after the passage of a new state law that requires this method of selection when hiring a professional in design or construction projects. As of 1999, the coalition received money from a national partnership created by the American Consulting Engineers Council, the American Institute of Architects, the American Public Works Association, the American Society of Landscape Architects and the National Society of Professional Engineers. The Idaho coalition matched this grant with local funds contributed by each of its members, creating a budget to enable the QBS Facilitator Council to offer many services to cities and counties at no cost.

ISPE AUXILARY

In March 1956 at the ISPE State Convention ladies luncheon, the idea of an organization was discussed to further the scope of friendships among the wives of the engineers and help the Southwest Chapter of ISPE with social functions. From that group of ladies the auxiliary was officially started. Wonderful memories and friendships developed that lasted throughout the lifetimes of these early members. As the roles of women changed over the years, the society changed as well and the group dissolved in 2007 but not before more than 50 years of contributions to society, local community organizations and the engineering profession.

ENGINEERING EDUCATION IN IDAHO

University of Idaho College of Engineering

University of Idaho College of Engineering

When the University of Idaho (UI) first opened in 1892, civil engineering instruction was part of the College of Applied Science and the engineering program remained there until 1907. On June 11, 1896, four degrees were awarded, with Arthur P. Adair and Charles L. Kirtley receiving the first Bachelor of Civil Engineering degrees. However, Arthur Adair is considered the first engineering student as he was the only student accepted with a college entrance requirement. The rest of the students who registered on the first registration day of October 3, 1892 all entered the Preparatory Department.

UI's College of Engineering was established in 1907 and began to function in 1908. However, official action by the Regents creating the College of Engineering as we know it today did not occur until October 27, 1911. Charles Newton Little was appointed by the Regents as the first Dean of the College of Engineering in October, 1911, also serving concurrently as the Head of Civil Engineering.

Interesting Historical Facts

- In December 1913 the equipment inventory, aside from buildings and library, of the five engineering departments comprised:
 - Civil Engineering $8611.28
 - Mining Engineering $25, 679.16
 - Mechanical Engineering $12,078.49
 - Electrical Engineering $9,110.13
 - Agricultural Engineering $960.10
- Grace Fenton Robertson, BSCE (1938), was the first woman graduate of the UI College of Engineering.
- Allen S. Janssen, ISPE Past President and Dean of the UI College of Engineering from 1946-1967, was selected by the ISPE as the state's "Engineer of the Year" for his "service, ability and devotion to the cause of engineering education, and his interest and service in the civic affairs of state and community."
- ISPE Hall of Fame Past President George Russell served as Assistant or Associate Dean of the College of Engineering from 1967 to 1985.
- ISPE Past Presidents with connections to the University include James W. Martin, professor of agricultural engineering and William P.
 Barnes, professor of mechanical engineering. Both served as Chairs of the ISPE Professional Engineers in Education (PEE) Practice Group along with James Milligan and James DeShazer also from the University of Idaho.

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

The College of Engineering has its origins linked with the beginning of Idaho State University, then the Academy of Idaho. Two of the first four graduates in 1904 were Civil Engineers. In 1915, the Academy of Idaho became the Idaho Technical Institute and students studying engineering could complete the first two years of a Bachelor of Science degree and transfer to the University of Idaho for completion of the degree. During the 1950's, Associate Degrees were offered in a variety of engineering disciplines, including agricultural, chemical, civil, electrical, mechanical and mining and metallurgy engineering.

The Bachelor of Science in pre-engineering was first established in 1963.as Idaho State College became Idaho State University. In 1965, the Idaho Legislature amended a statute limiting engineering programs at ISU. The change allowed ISU to establish a Bachelor of Science degree in General Engineering with a Nuclear Engineering option. The following year, a Master of Science degree in Nuclear Science and Engineering was established. In 1967, the first two students received B.S. degrees in General Engineering.

Engineering became an independent department in 1968 with the creation of the Department of Engineering and Nuclear Science and the School of Engineering in 1975. In 1985 the B.S. in General Engineering received national accreditation under the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET). The College of Engineering was established in 1986 by Dean Dr. V. P. "Harry" Charyulu. In 1997, students could specialize their B.S. degree in either Civil, Electrical or Mechanical engineering. B.S. degrees in Computer Science and Nuclear Engineering were added in 1999 and 2005 respectively. By 2000, all B.S. programs in the College of Engineering were accredited. Along with the five B.S. degree programs, programs include M.S. degrees in Civil graduate Engineering, Environmental Engineering, Measurement and Control Engineering, Mechanical Engineering and Nuclear Science and Engineering. degrees include Engineering and Applied Science and Nuclear Science and Engineering programs.

Student enrollment now stands at almost 700 students. At present, there are 22 full-time faculty teaching in the College of Engineering. Research funding is about $2.5 million and increasing steadily.

ISPE State past Presidents include former ISU professors John Bennion and Dewitt Tal Neill, both of whom also served as Chairs of the ISPE Professional Engineers in Education (PEE) Practice Group. Former ISU Dean and current Professor Jay Kunze also helped organize ISPE's 5th Chapter (the National Reactor Testing Station) from 1972-1975.

Boise State University College of Engineering

Engineering was initially a pre-engineering program at Boise Junior College in the 1950s. In spring of 1988, UI established an off-campus center in Boise to provide expanded undergraduate offerings.

In 1995, a group of business leaders, educators and legislators decided that greater access to engineering education was critical to the economic future of Idaho. By fall, lobbying efforts culminated in a vote by the Idaho State Board of Education to form the College of Engineering at BSU. In 1996, classes leading to a four-year baccalaureate degree in three fields were offered.

One year later, in 1997, the College of Engineering was created including departments of electrical, mechanical and civil engineering, construction management and instructional and performance technology. Lynn Russell was hired as the college's founding dean. Enrollment for fall semester was 320.

By 2006, enrollment had jumped to 1,616 and departments were added for computer science and for materials science and engineering. The mechanical engineering program was renamed the Department of Mechanical and Biomedical Engineering.

By 2009, combined enrollment for undergraduate and graduate studies was 1,881 students. BSU now offers 24 degree options ranging from bachelors through doctoral in seven academic departments. Research expenditures have tripled in the past five years. Additionally, through research, outreach and internship programs, the BSU College of Engineering affords many opportunities to advance in the knowledge of engineering. For instance, nearly 10,000 K-12 students are brought to campus annually for engineering outreach programs, such as Discover Engineering Day and 83% of undergraduate students experience hands-on research and internship opportunities.

ISPE Past State Presidents include former BSU Dean of the College of Engineering Norm Dahm who also chaired the ISPE Professional Engineers in Education (PEE) Practice Group.
